CORPO, POESIA E PROTESTO
As coleções que corporizem o MUZEU são expressão do histórico de mecenato do dstgroup, sendo identificável a ligação da empresa e de José Teixeira a vários projetos, tais como o festival Encontros da Imagem, o que explica a paixão pela fotografia. Nas palavras de José Teixeira, "a fotografia guarda o momento sem o roubar" e, apesar de registar o real, oferece um campo de subjetividade de leituras que a configuram, provavelmente, como a mais política das tecnologias.
Referência, também, para o mapa de exposições organizadas pela ZET, galeria de arte, desde 2014, que defende parte da política de aquisições, bem como o apoio direto à criação, através de atribuição de bolsas a diversos artistas, ao longo dos anos. Esta realidade oferece às coleções e a esta exposição singularidade e reforça a sua não-neutralidade e as suas intenções.
É evidente a predileção do colecionador por artistas e obras com elevado sentido poético, filosófico e político, portadores de causas e de identidades globais. Simultaneamente, num universo de mais de 300 artistas e quase 1500 obras, é possível traçarmos o desenho do tecido criativo da região, com representação de vários artistas naturais do Minho.
Nesta Galeria, apresentamos um conjunto de obras que têm em comum a presença do corpo e, de uma forma geral, configuram diferentes olhares, ao longo das últimas décadas, da figuração enquanto objeto de representação e de ação política. Simultaneamente, a ação performativa que transforma a matéria está também presente nas obras de dimensão escultórica, que carregam poesias, silêncios e sentidos.
As obras selecionadas permitem abordar temas como as desigualdades, a solidão, a sociedade de vigilância, o pós e o neo colonialismo, a violência de género, a fé e a espiritualidade, em sentido mais lato, revelando a dimensão política das coleções e da exposição, a sua versatilidade e preocupação com a representatividade e a diversidade.
BODY, POETRY AND PROTEST
The collections that give form to MUZEU are an expression of dstgroup's history of patronage, and the connection between the company and José Teixeira to various projects is evident, such as the Encontros da Imagem festival, which helps explain the strong presence of photography. In the words of José Teixeira, "photography preserves the moment without taking it away" and, although it records reality, it offers a field of subjective readings that arguably make it the most political of technologies.
Reference should also be made to the programme of exhibitions organised by ZET, art gallery, since 2014, which has helped shape part of the acquisitions policy, as well as to the direct support for artistic creation through the awarding of grants to various artists over the years. This context gives the collections and this exhibition a particular singularity and reinforces their non-neutrality and their intentions.
The collector's preference for artists and works with a strong poetic, philosophical and political dimension is evident, carrying causes and global identities. At the same time, within a universe of more than 300 artists and nearly 1,500 works, it is possible to trace the contours of the region's creative fabric, with several artists from Minho present.
In this Gallery, we present a group of works that share the presence of the body and, more broadly, reflect different perspectives over recent decades on figuration as both an object of representation and a form of political action. At the same time, performative action that transforms matter is also present in works of a sculptural nature, which carry poetry, silences and meaning.
The selected works allow us to address themes such as inequality, solitude, the surveillance society, post- and neo-colonialism, gender-based violence, faith and spirituality in a broader sense, revealing the political dimension of the collections and the exhibition, as well as their versatility and commitment to representation and diversity.
